From the Editor

History Commentary
Grover Krantz—searching for new frontiers in the heart of a conquered one.
By Wayne K. Spitzer

Tacoma Speedway
In the early days of auto racing, drivers and their fans flocked to the track in Lakewood.
By Steve Dunkelberger

Klondike Literature
These Alaska gold rush tales share a prominent characteristic with the region’s mountainous terrain—they are very tall.
By Terrence M. Cole

History Album
Spruce suits.

To the Brink and Back
Chief Moses’ leadership kept the Bannock War from spreading into Washington Territory.
By Michael McKenzie

Exclusion Order No. 1
What role did the U.S. Navy play in evacuating the Japanese from Bainbridge Island during World War II?
By Vernon D. Bashaw

From the Collection
Old nursery catalogs aid researchers.

Rising Tides of Empire
Friendly Cove was not always so friendly.
By Barry Gough

Retrospective Reviews
The island works of Hazel Heckman.
By Peter Donahue

Additional Reading

Columbia Reviews