WILL THE BULLETIN EXPLAIN IT?

"Of course she did," said Mrs. Anthony, "it was explained to her." He seemed to be in a hurry and said, "I must be going." He then turned and left without saying anything else.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LAW.

The legislature of Washington Territory has passed a law, in the form of a resolution, which will go into effect in the fall. The resolution provides that any person who shall make any statement in the Territory, either orally or in writing, or by any other means, contrary to the laws of the Territory, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.