

COLUMBIA: THE MAGAZINE OF NORTHWEST HISTORY
SUMMER 1989 – VOL. 3 NO. 2

History Commentary 2

Is Northwest history being forgotten?

By John McClelland Jr.

Two Tales from the "Fiery" '80s 3

Vignettes from the Seattle and Goldendale fires.

By Harriet Fish

Barnstorming Ace Makes Big Splash 8

A 1910 air show thrills Puget Sound.

By Wilma Snyder

Mt. Rainier or Mt. Tacoma? 10

The name controversy raged from 1883 to 1925, and may not be dead yet.

By A. D. Martinson

"Mt. Tahoma" as an Indian Symbol 17

Indian names "commemorated the past and linked it to the present."

By Brian W. Dippie

The Mind of the Founders 18

A look at the intent of the authors of the Washington State Constitution.

By James M. Dolliver

The Prohibition Proposition 26

Centennial Historical Facts 30

Life in Washington during the summer prior to statehood.

Edited by Redmond J. Barnett

James G. Swan 32

A Hall of Honor portrait of an early author/ethnographer.

By Lucile McDonald

Centennial Hall of Honor 36

One hundred celebrated Washingtonians.

From the Collection 40

A new feature highlights WSHS Library holdings.

Maritime Folklife Puget Sound 41

Summer exhibit focuses on contemporary maritime traditions.

By Phyllis A. Harrison

Columbia Reviews 46

History Album 48

The great train/automobile race to Ashford from Tacoma.