

From the Editor 2

History Commentary 3

An overview of the juvenile justice system in Washington.

By Mark Ezell

Shaping History 8

Do pioneer reminiscences really represent an accurate picture of the emigrant experience?

By Barbara Allen

Blind Justice on the Touchet 14

Columbia County Courthouse is still on the job after more than a hundred years.

By David Chapman

From the Collection 21

"Westward Ho!"

Tourists in Wonderland 22

Bringing vacationers to the Pacific Northwest was an afterthought that turned into a booming business.

By Carlos A. Schwantes

Daniel R. Bigelow 31

A man of principle who stood against the political order.

By Shanna Stevenson

History Album 36

Christmastime at the post office—some things never change...

The Panic of 1893 37

Hard times rocked the economic foundations of the Northwest a century ago.

By J. Kingston Pierce

Correspondence/Additional Reading 45

Columbia Reviews 46