

From the Editor 2

History Commentary 3

There's something missing in the "new western history."

By Michael A. Green

The Columbia Basin Project Farmers 6

Growers butt heads with Floyd Dominy and the Bureau of Reclamation over irrigation fees.

By Paul C. Pitzer

The Company's Cowlitz 12

Cowlitz Farm was the Hudson's Bay Company's first large-scale agricultural endeavor.

By Steven A. Anderson

Two Views, Two Voices 17

Brothers Edward and Asahel Curtis, both photographers, viewed their world from very different perspective.

By Stephanie Lile

The Great Depression 29

A Dust Bowl migrant's memoir of coming to the Pacific Northwest.

By Rolland Dewing

When the Bankers Marched Like Soldiers 33

Colonel Richard Wilson and the Businessmen's Camp at American Lake.

By C. Stuart MacVeigh

The Old Yellowstone Trail 39

Rediscovering American by way of one of the first transcontinental auto touring routes.

By Yvonne Prater

Correspondence/Additional Reading 45

Columbia Reviews 46