

From the Editor 2

History Commentary 3

The Lewis and Clark expedition—what does it mean to America almost 200 years later?

By Dayton Duncan

Orphan Road 7

Seattle's long wait for a transcontinental train connection.

By Kurt E. Armbruster

From the Collection 19

Who are these people?

One Man's Adventure in the Klondike 20

William Haskell's gold rush memoir sparkles in the muddied landscape of Klondike literature.

By Terrence Cole

The Wahluke Slope of the Hanford Site 27

A historical land use debate rages on.

By Michele S. Gerber

History Album 34

Cranberry harvest.

Joshua the Second 35

The man who put a hex on San Francisco.

By Jan Parrott-Holden

Two Senators and the Boeing Company 38

Washington's political culture leapt from progressivism to liberalism in less than 24 years.

By Richard S. Kirkendall

Columbia Reviews 44

Correspondence/Additional Reading 46