

SPRING 2012 – VOL. 26 NO. 1

From the Director 2

Introductions.

By Jennifer Kilmer

History Commentary 3

A young Washingtonian's introduction to the civil rights movement.

By Robert Keller

Before SIFF 5

The dawn of film culture in Seattle and the Puget Sound region.

By Jeff Katz

From the Collection 9

Remembering the Titanic.

David Douglas 10

An early 19th-century naturalist whose insights and observations about the Pacific Northwest still carry weight today.

By Jack Nisbet

Image Collections Online 14

Let's play ball!

Nest of Dangers 15

Captain Edward Belcher's 1839 expedition to chart the depths at the mouth of the Columbia River.

By Mike Rees

Let the Law Take Its Course 20

In 1891 Walla Walla was a "modern" town with a Wild West hankering for justice.

By Terrell D. Gottschall

Columbia Reviews 28

Retrospective Reviews 30

Cogewea, the Half-Blood, by Mourning Dove.

By Peter Donahue

Additional Reading 31

History Album 32

Ella Shepard Bush.